5. Economic result (deficit of surplus)	Economic result in national currency. (Evt. surplus should be refunded to SNS unless other arrangement has been agreed) The economical result for 2014 leaves approximately a surplus of 28.000 SEK and together with the surplus from 2013 (16.000 SEK) a total of 44.000 SEK is currently available. We have requested and been granted to have these remaining funds to be transferred to 2015. This resource will be directed to arranging the workshop “Nordic vegetation under the future climate: understand effects on species distribution limits”
6. Evt. comments	Co-financing during 2014 has been extensive, although not possible to calculate in detail. The conference in Tartu, received significant financial support from local organizations in Estonia and participants paid conference fees as well as their travel and accommodation costs, covering a large share of the actual costs of the conference. The PhD-courses were in addition to the Prifor resources covered by participant fees and by dedicated funding from SLU. During all activities in 2014, network participants have provided significant in-kind contribution of their work time. No resources has been allocated to the network coordination and these costs have in practice been covered by Mid Sweden University
